

Joe DePaul

Cyber/E&O Practice Leader
FINEX North America

Relevant Experience/Specialization

Joe is a 23-year veteran in the insurance industry, with a focus on the cyber sector for the last 15 years. He began his career underwriting and broking Management Liability and Errors & Omissions risk transfer solutions, gained further expertise working with M&A Transactional Products and most recently, Cyber. He has held management and executive positions in underwriting, brokerage and MGA operations.

Role at Willis Towers Watson

As a practice leader, Joe is responsible for the vision and establishing business goals for Willis Towers Watson's Cyber Practice. He leads the cyber business' growth objectives and serves as a thought leader in the space.

Education and Credentials

Joe has served leadership roles in many organizations throughout his career. He is a current fellow for the Claims and Litigation Management Alliance and served as past chair for the Claims and Litigation Management Alliance's Cyber Committee, and Professional Liability Committee. He is a frequent author and speaker and is considered an expert in the area of Cyber Liability.